Navsari Agricultural University is going to organize a national seminar on Role of Organic Farming in Climate Resilient and Sustainable Agriculture during 9-10 January, 2014. During the seminar delegates, eminent scientists, scholars, farmers and entrepreneurs will be assembled and discuss on various issues of organic farming. This platform will provide an unique opportunity to the different business firms to expand their business by disseminating by putting the information relevant to their products in the souvenir of the seminar. Further, it is also decided to provide space for stalls to exhibit the product of different business firms engaged in this field. Henceforth, you are requested to circulate this information to the relevant parties as early as possible. Your effort in revenue generation will be helpful for the smooth and successful conduction of seminar. The information regarding the charges is given below:
